Dr. Carlton E. Green is a licensed psychologist, trainer, facilitator, speaker, and consultant who seeks to engage people in identity-based conversations that lead to liberation. Trained as a counseling psychologist,

Dr. Green earned his Ph.D. in Counseling Psychology, and received masters-level training in Mental Health Counseling and Pastoral Ministry, from Boston College.

From 2018 to 2021, Dr. Green served as the Director of Diversity Training & Education in the Office of Diversity & Inclusion at the University of Maryland, College Park (UMD). Prior to taking on that role, he served as a Staff Psychologist at the UMD Counseling Center, where he provided psychotherapy, consultation, outreach, supervision and training services.

Currently, Dr. Green operates an independent practice where he provides psychotherapy, supervision, facilitation, and consultation services. As a mental health professional, he specializes in providing culturally responsive treatment, training, and supervision.

Dr. Green is also an active member in the American Psychological Association (APA) through the Society of Counseling Psychology (Division 17).

His contributions to the field earned him a Rising Star Award at the 2019 National Multicultural Conference & Summit. In 2019, the Maryland Psychological Association recognized Dr. Green with the Grady Dale Jr. Award for Outstanding Contributions to Diversity in Psychology. Dr. Green was awarded the Committee on Sexual Orientation and Gender Diversity Outstanding Achievement Award from the American Psychological Association and the Division 44 Distinguished Contributions to Ethnic Minority Issues Award in August 2020.
